Executive Summary

In 2018 Palliative Care Queensland (PCQ) held the inaugural Palliative Care in Queensland Summit to listen to key stakeholders providing palliative care and set an agreed advocacy agenda. This publication is for consumers, carers, service providers, organisations, peak bodies and government to use in their pursuit of quality end-of-life care for all Queenslanders.

The 5 priority areas identified for palliative care in Queensland for 2019 are:

Better Funding
- Needs-based funding: for example, packages of care instead of time-limited funding models
- Accessible funding: ensure funding is easier to access in a timely manner, particularly for home-based care and aged care
- Equitable funding: particularly for people in rural and remote areas and under 65 years

Improved Access
- Better access to specialist support in rural and remote areas
- Better access to home-based General Practitioners support (24 hours)
- Better access to Commonwealth Home Care Services for end-of-life care at home (including assistance with navigating My Aged Care)

Community Activation
- The development and implementation of a community awareness and engagement strategy, and campaigns to promote better understanding of palliative care and compassionate community models and initiatives
- Conduct statewide community asset mapping and share the results via platforms which are accessible for community members and service providers
- Service providers to collaborate with community to ensure carers have appropriate support networks around them

Focus on Advance Care Planning
- Promotion of Advance Care Planning in all settings of care
- Standardisation of documentation across Queensland
- Improved access to documents for all who need them

Workforce Development
- Invest in professional development opportunities: from graduates to lifelong learners
- Improve mentorship and supervision
- Grow and train volunteers

PCQ recommends anybody who shares the vision of quality end of life care for all Queenslanders to use the priorities listed above in any way that progresses the quality palliative care agenda.
President’s Foreword

On behalf of Palliative Care Queensland, I am pleased to present Palliative Care Queensland’s Palliative Care in Queensland Priorities for 2019. These have been developed to articulate the palliative care sector in Queensland’s expectations for palliative care systems and service priorities for 2019, designed through a round table discussion approach.

Palliative Care Queensland looks forward to continuing to collaborate with people working towards high quality palliative care for all Queenslanders. On behalf of the State Council of Palliative Care Queensland, I commend this document to you and hope the information provided informs policy and service strategies as we work towards achieving our vision of quality palliative care for all.

Palliative Care Queensland
Background

The mission of Palliative Care Queensland (PCQ) includes advocacy for ‘quality end of life care for all Queenslanders’. Since 1988 when PCQ began, the landscape of palliative care in Queensland has changed significantly. The acceptance of palliative care as a medical specialty, the growth in population (particularly the ageing population), the development of public, private and non-government services and the emergence of the public health approaches to palliative care have contributed to the current context of palliative and end-of-life care in Queensland. This is a dynamic space which needs to rapidly adjust to the exponentially increasing evidence base and new treatment therapies, as well as fluctuating community attitudes about death and dying.

PCQ has a membership of over 400 individuals and organisations who share the vision and passion to improve palliative and end-of-life care in Queensland. These members include health professionals across all sectors of health, specialist and generalist palliative care services, peak bodies, as well as consumers and interested members of the Queensland community. Collectively, the PCQ membership body holds tremendous knowledge and wisdom about the challenges the sector faces and the opportunities those challenges can bring.

Purpose

PCQ created the Palliative Care in Queensland Summit to listen to members and other stakeholders in palliative care and set an agreed advocacy agenda for all and any individual, service provider or organisation to use in their pursuit of quality end-of-life care for all Queenslanders. It is intended that the Palliative Care in Queensland Summit will become an annual event which identifies annual priorities for the sector and builds a tracking system which pinpoints sector innovation, change and growth.
Palliative Care in Queensland Summit 2018

The inaugural Palliative Care in Queensland Annual Summit (the Summit) was held in December 2018 and aimed to create a collective voice for palliative care in Queensland and inspire attendees to use that voice in their own organisations and communities. The Summit was attended by 160 people from a diverse range of backgrounds and organisations. These included (but were not limited to) health professionals, social care organisations, aged care, peak bodies and academic institutions.

The Summit included six sessions that were described as ‘roundtable’ discussions. The roundtables had a maximum of 30 people attending and each was facilitated by two experienced facilitators with ‘topical’ knowledge and backgrounds. The topics for the roundtables were selected from key priority areas that had been identified from ongoing discussion with our members and the palliative care sector throughout 2018. The topics selected were:

- Specialist Palliative Care
- Home-based palliative care
- Public health approaches to palliative care
- Palliative care education and quality improvement
- Palliative care in aged care
- Associated peak bodies, statewide organisations and projects

The round table discussions followed a similar format (identifying gaps, identifying good practice, priority setting) but were uniquely delivered according to the facilitation style of the facilitators. Each of the round table discussions produced up to five priorities and all can be seen in Appendix 1. Despite the different themes of the round table discussions, many of the priorities identified were similar across most groups.

PCQ is very grateful for the support of the sponsors of this Summit, without whom the event would not have been possible:

- Queensland Health - Care at End of Life Project
- Australian Centre for Grief & Bereavement
- caring@home
- End of Life Directions for Aged Care (ELDAC)
- Home Instead Senior Care
- Karuna Hospice Services
- PalAssist
- PalCare
- Palliative Care Curriculum for Undergraduates (PCC4U)
- Palliative Care Outcomes Collaboration (PCOC)
- Program of Experience in the Palliative Approach (PEPA)
- Quality of Care Collaborative Australia (QuoCCA)
- Telstra Health
- Your Life Talks
Palliative Care in Queensland Priorities for 2019

In December 2018, 160 people gathered at the Palliative Care in Queensland Summit and identified the following priorities for 2019.

Better Funding
- Needs funding: for example, packages of care instead of time-limited funding models
- Accessible funding: ensure funding is easier to access in a timely manner, particularly for home-based care and aged care
- Equitable funding: particularly for people in rural and remote areas and under 65 years

Improved Access
- Better access to specialist support in rural and remote areas
- Better access to home-based General Practitioner support (24 hours)
- Better access to Commonwealth Home Care Services for end-of-life care at home (including assistance with navigating My Aged Care)

Community Activation
- The development and implementation of a community awareness and engagement strategy and campaigns to promote better understanding of palliative care and compassionate community models and initiatives
- Conduct statewide community asset mapping and share the results via platforms which are accessible for community members and service providers
- Service providers to collaborate with community to ensure carers have appropriate support networks around them

Focus on Advance Care Planning
- Promotion of Advance Care Planning in all settings of care
- Standardisation of documentation across Queensland
- Improved access to documents for all who need them

Workforce Development
- Invest in professional development opportunities – from graduates to lifelong learners
- Improve mentorship and supervision
- Grow and train volunteers

Palliative Care Queensland recommends anybody who shares the vision of quality end of life care for all Queenslanders use the priorities listed above in any way that progresses the quality palliative care agenda.
Employing the Priorities

PCQ has committed to using the priorities identified by the participants of the roundtables at the Palliative Care in Queensland Summit (2018) as the basis of advocacy work with all levels of government in 2019.

Several other key documents have been developed Nationally over the past 12 – 18 months.

1) Palliative Care 2030: Working Towards the Future of Quality Palliative Care for All (2019)
2) National Palliative Care Strategy (2018)
3) Palliative Care Service Development Guidelines (2018)
4) National Palliative Care Standards (2018)
5) Productivity Commission into Human Services (including end-of-life care) (2018)
6) Compassionate Communities: An implementation guide for community approaches to end-of-life care (2018)
7) Barriers to accessing quality palliative care for under-served populations: workshop summary (2018)

This Palliative Care in Queensland Priorities for 2019 document provides an identification of state-wide priorities targeted to Queensland, which are consistent with many of the national and international priorities for palliative care.

| Palliative care in aged care | • Improved continuity across the care continuum. Particularly in relation to transitions between home-based care to acute care to Aged Care (Facility or Home care)
  • Share successful models: Identify strengths in successful palliative care models and pilot these to other areas. Particularly in relation to:
    - Providing care for disadvantaged groups
    - Sharing policies and procedures
  • Consumer and volunteer engagement. Create engagement strategies/campaigns to target consumers and volunteers to be involved in palliative care in aged care
  • Early Advance Care Planning (ACP) discussions – at or before diagnosis. Collaborate with General Practitioners to recognise that we are not having discussions early enough and that ACP discussions are important early in diagnosis
  • Improve access to aged care funding and systems:
    - Aged Care Funding Instrument [ACFI]: work needs to be done to enable easier access of Palliative Care Funding and make the application process less cumbersome
    - MyAgedCare: too hard to navigate IT systems and multiple service providers for consumers and providers to ensure timely access to services |

- Leadership and clear strategic direction across the sector, including co-designed of palliative care priorities that are adopted by all stakeholders and the collection of similar outcome data measures to demonstrate impact

- Education provision for community and consumers to support activation that enables a community response. Education should be include:
  - Palliative care
  - Treatment options
  - Death / dying literacy

- Education for all health professionals about palliative care from undergraduate (or certificate) to life-long learning

- Improve support and engagement for and with community and carers

- Reframing ‘person-centred care’ to ‘network centred care’, including:
  - Individuals with a serious illness
  - Carer / family
  - Friends
  - Community

This round table topic was decided as PCQ recognises that these organisations and projects hold key strategic influence, knowledge and data in relation to Palliative Care in Queensland.
